MONTIGO SPA OPENS WITH INNOVATIVE SPA TREATMENTS Creating extensions of local cultural experiences

Singapore, 20 November 2012 – Montigo Spa opens with 12 treatment rooms each housed in traditional Indonesia bamboo huts, offering guests a slice of the local culture. The Montigo Resorts concept of a family getaway is coupled with authentic experiences that reflect the way of life of its locale. Extended to its spa treatments and rituals, guests are immersed in a cultural experience as they indulge in massages, scrubs, facials and body wraps.

The seafront oasis offers a spa menu incorporating local indigenous ingredients creating unforgettable moments. Guests may sample the Island Spice Blend body scrub which uses handpicked galangal, ginger, lemongrass and cloves from its own garden, or an After Sun Treat using fresh aloe vera, cucumber and green tea essential oil. Those looking for muscle tension relief can relax with an Indonesian Massage which helps with oxygen flow through the body and combines acupressure, reflexology and aromatherapy techniques.

“With turmeric, candle nut, jasmine and yoghurt, the 90-minute Javanese Lulur is an exceptional ritual that promotes circulation using ingredients high in anti-oxidant and astringent properties,” recommends Ibu Mintarsih, Montigo Spa’s Manager. “It is also one of the best ways to experience Indonesian culture as this time honoured treatment was reserved only for Javanese royal brides to be.”

The 5000 square-foot Montigo Spa is set amidst a sprawling site which feature single, couple or group therapy treatment huts including a Sensory Spa room using light and sound therapy in a century old Sumatran hut. The area also boasts a Montigo Spa library, a private swimming pool reserved for spa guests, and outdoor vitality pools. In addition, guests who booked one of the 13 spa villas may enjoy treatments in their own private spa cabana, all with views of the sea. Treatments are priced from IDR 500,000 (approximately SGD$65).
